Introducing French Balayage Milky inspired by the creamy hues of #milktea.

"

My love for a delicious Thai tea with oat milk that has this richness and depth in its marmalade-like coloring. Be creative in conjuring new formulas that push boundaries and finishes! You will result in a milk-like "opaque" finish when processing full time and incorporating some naturals at the level of hair lifted in your final formula.

How should salons market a new trend/technique to their clients?

I love talking with salon owners and stylists about what services they specialize in and what services they could expand on. We often discuss blonding services, like the new #milktea color. Once you are open to expanding on a trend service, you'll need to explore bringing in an artist to train the team, ensure they have the proper products and set up promotions to encourage clients to try the new service. After updating your service menu, have the front desk team actively promote the new services while booking appointments and post images of clients receiving the new service on social media.

How do trends attract new business?

Because clients are so savvy with Youtube, Instagram and TikTok nowadays, they are often influenced by trends like #milktea color. Our salons NEED to offer these trends, be trained on them and perform each service with excellence. If we cannot offer balayage or lived in color, clients will go elsewhere, which is the #1 reason clients leave their current stylist. Offering something like #milktea color is vitally important, not only to maintain existing clientele, but also to attract new ones.

How have trends leveraging our Dia demi-permanents supported business growth?

A complete #milktea color service utilizes Metal Detox treatment, Blond Studio and Dia light as a toner and shine boost. This service could also utilize Metal Detox, Dia light for toning and Dia color for a smudge root, and extensions can be treated with Metal Detox and colored and toned with Dia light. The #milktea color service is creating an opportunity for stylists to increase their average ticket, client count and retail sales. Most of all, these trend focused services are creating generous growth opportunities for salon owners and their stylists.

During the summer months, what is the most common hair concern your clients come in with and how do you address it?

Color fading is a big concern in the summer months. My clients are often traveling, out in the sun, exposing their hair to water constantly in pools, the ocean, or even just washing more than they normally would. I can combat this by using the Metal Detox Service to help neutralize metals to ensure I get the optimal results when I color their hair.

Do you build Metal Detox into the price of your color services or offer it as an add-on service?

I build it into all of my color services and call them "Treatment" Color Services. It's a tool that gives me the confidence (and insurance) to achieve the looks my clients are wanting.. it's a no brainer for me!

How do you explain Metal Detox to your clients who have never had a treatment before?

I explain Metal Detox as their hair insurance policy. Metals sneak into your hair by metal pipes eroding and entering our water. Every time you get your hair wet, there is a potential that metals are being absorbed. It's not harmful until it has a negative interaction- which can happen during a color service even with the most premium color.

How do you recommend your clients maintain their color at home during the summer months?

The take home products to maintain the color my clients invest in during their visit is essential. The Shampoo helps to remove metals from hair, while the Mask helps prevent them from coming back. The Smoothing Cream and Oil help to smooth, combat frizz and protect against heat, the elements and of course metals- all while protecting that color. I'm obsessed, so are my clients.. and yours will be too!
